GRAND CANYON SOUTH RIM TOUR

Words and even pictures cannot fully describe this stunning gift of nature.

First photographed by Timothy O'Sullivan in 1871, we continue trying to capture the beauty of this geological wonder but nothing substitutes seeing the Grand Canyon like seeing it in person. Gray Line stops at the most popular viewing areas including Mather Point and the Bright Angel Lodge. Take your own pictures - shop for souvenirs - create your own memories.

After crossing Hoover Dam where a photo stop is made, your driver/guide will entertain you with a historical narration of the area's Spanish Explorers, and the early Western Settlers as you drive through Arizona.

A delicious lunch is included at Max & Thelma's Restaurant at the Railroad Depot constructed in 1908 in picturesque Williams, Arizona along historic Route 66.

You will always remember your Gray Line Tour to the Grand Canyon as a very special day.
